Madu

Activity:

Tell students that Ramadan follows the phases of the moon. It begins with the new moon and ends before the next new moon. Also during Ramadan, people only eat after sunset. Also explain that God shows his love for us by providing us time at night for our bodies to rest and grow strong.

Ask students to draw a night scene showing the phases of the moon.

Note: The moon changes phases every 2-3 days beginning with a new moon, then becoming a crescent that grows larger (waxing) until it becomes a full moon two weeks later. Then it grows smaller (waning) until the next new moon at the end of the month.
