

Home

By Cody Cargill* age 13

My home is a place that I love
Where the sun brightens the ocean
From its perfect perch above
You can see the ocean's tide
Curl into a wave with one long stride
Waters of beauty and destruction side by side
And the boulders,
Unmoved by the waves' broad shoulders
The water so clear will always show
The kingdom of coral for the fish below
Sometimes I wonder how or maybe why
The ocean seems to reflect God's radiant sky
But from the highest peak to the fields of tea
I can see that this is the home that God gave to me
